State Administration Council Chairman Commander-in Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing is giving strategic advice for the Sea Shield 2020 military firing practice drill onboard "Mottama" yesterday.

The Tatmadaw is conducting Army, Navy and Air military drills continuously to protect the sovereignty and territory of the country well and to enhance its defence capability. Naval ships, including submarine (Minye Thinkhathu) has been conducting the Three-Dimensional Naval Exercise-Sea Shield 2020 involving strategic aerial, surface and underwater operations and firing since 2 April this year in Myanmar territorial waters in the Bay of Bengal.

Chairman of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing, accompanied by council members General Maung Maung Kyaw, Lt-Gen Moe Myint Tun, Joint Secretary Lt-Gen Ye Win Oo, Union Minister for Planning, Finance and Industry U Win Shein, Commander-in-Chief (Navy) Admiral Moe Aung, senior

annihilating and to recount the important matters.

While the naval ships were sailing to the target-practising area before the start of the drills, a foreign merchant vessel was spotted in the area. Naval ship (Mottama) asked the vessel details and to leave the area in accord with the rules of engagement (ROE).

Then, the Senior General observed the firing of surface and aerial targets with big guns and cannons and underwater targets with torpedoes by ten warships, from the naval ship (Mottama).

Myanmar has long and wide territorial waters which are about 1,300 nautical miles in coastal length and over 144,000 square miles in surface area. Navy plays a pivotal role in safeguarding the territorial waters. Hitting the target is very important in naval drills. In naval warfare, the degree of loss is high even if a ship is hit and destroyed. It also has a huge impact on combat prowess. Systematic training is required to realize the policy “every shot must hit the target and training must be done to hit the target”. All the rounds must go straightly to the specific area as the drill focuses on area targeting.

Tatmadaw (Navy) was founded with the frigate Mayu and since 1990 it has been developing gradually. It later reached the level of producing its own naval vessels from the stage of owning fast attack ships and artillery-mounted

It is a proper drill to counter and crush the aerial, surface and underwater enemy at sea and its ultimate goal is Drill to Action. Hence, the weakness and advantages found at the drill must be recorded and analyzed. It is important to gather correct information.

As they all the officers and other ranks have successfully and effectively participated in the drill, their performances were satisfactory. The aim of the drill is to promote the national defence capacity. So they must be dutiful and serve in the interest of the country.

The Senior General presented souvenirs to officers and other ranks of the drill through the naval commander (duty). Then the Senior General and party left Mottama by helicopter.

The drill involving helicopters, submarine and surface ships is a fire and manoeuvre training based on military offensive skillfully launched by Three-Dimensional Navy. Since its arrival in Myanmar, the submarine (Minye Thinkhathu) has already conducted 131 underwater operations for 1,708 hours and 56 minutes in the area of Myanmar territorial waters inspection headquarters.—MNA

As the Tatmadaw did not seize power but took measures to strengthen the multiparty democracy system, tasks must be carried out in accordance with the existing 2008 Constitution: Senior General

CHAIRMAN of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing met with members of the Ayeyawady Region Administration Council and departmental personnel at the region office yesterday afternoon.

Also present at the meeting together with the Senior General were council members General Maung Maung Kyaw and Lt-Gen Moe Myint Tun, Joint Secretary Lt-Gen Ye Win Oo, Union Minister for Planning, Finance and Industry U Win Shein, Union Minister for Investment and Foreign Economic Relations U Aung Naing Oo, Union Minister for Education Dr Nyunt Pe, Union Minister for Health and Sports Dr Thet Khaing Win, chairman of Ayeyawady Region Administration Council U Ye Myint, Commander-in-Chief (Navy) Admiral Moe Aung, senior military officers from the Office of the Commander-in-Chief, commander of South-West Command Maj-Gen Aung Aung, members of the Ayeyawady Region Administration Council and departmental personnel.

First, the Senior General and party were welcomed by U Ye Myint and officials. Next, members of the Ayeyawady Region Administration Council introduced themselves individually. U Ye Myint reported on social, economic and health affairs and regional development tasks in the region and general matters.

First, the Senior General said it is the first time he has been talking to civil society organizations in Ayeyarwady Region, which is one of the paddy barns of Myanmar.

Afterwards, the Senior General explained the implementation of the democracy system, saying the Tatmadaw studied the international practices of democracy during the term of previous Tatmadaw government before the democratic transition of Myanmar and shaped the process of democratic transition before pushing the country onto the democratic path aspired by the people by successfully holding the multiparty democracy election in accordance with democratic norms in 2010. It has been a decade since the democratic transition started and elections are the essence of democracy system. Even class leaders were elected based on will of the majority when we were at school. Elections are more important as representatives of the people are elected based on the will of the people. In retrospect, during the term of the first democratic government, it is found that the government was able to make progress in various sectors including political, administrative and economic ones while it managed to sign the NCA during the peace process.

During the term of the first democratic government, the government led by U Thein Sein exerted efforts amid political, economic and administrative deadlocks in addition to outside pressures and armed conflicts. As a result, the public was dissatisfied with the performance while the NLD launched campaigns with slogans “It is time to change” and enticement promises to win the 2015 election. After winning the percent of eligible voters or only 14 people out of 100 eligible voters cast their ballots during the Yangon City Development Committee election in 2019.

Elections are one of the essences of democracy system and it was found that 72 percent of eligible voters cast their ballots in the 2010 election and nearly 70 percent of eligible voters cast their ballots in the 2015 election. However, there emerged no-vote campaigns due to the above-mentioned reasons and I had to urge the public to cast their votes wherever I went.

As for the 2020 multiparty election, the Senior General said the NLD government was concerned about winning the election over no-vote campaigns before the election and the experience during the YCDC election and susceptible to vote rigging in Ayeyarwady Region alone.

Despite repeated calls, not only responsible organizations at various levels failed to address the address the issue of hugely erroneous voter’s lists but also attempts were made to convene the third Hluttaw to take over the state power forcefully. As a result, the state of emergency was declared and the Tatmadaw had to assume the responsibilities of the state under the delegation of responsibilities by the acting president.

As for the formation of the State Administration Council, the Senior General said that as the Tatmadaw did not seize power but took measures to strengthen the multiparty democracy system, tasks must be carried out in accordance with the existing 2008 constitution. Therefore, the SAC is made up of civilian and military members proportionally while the civilian rule is allowed to be in force by forming administration councils at regional and state levels with civilians. The SAC has adopted five future tasks and nine political, economic and social objectives for the all-round development of the state.

As for the educational, economic and social development, the Senior General said it is encouraging to learn that Ayeyarwady Region is one of the paddy barns of the country and has the highest rate of GDP but efforts must be made to achieve better results.

As 70 percent of the population of the country are rural people who mainly carry out agriculture and livestock breeding, it is necessary to establish agriculture and livestock breeding institutes, colleges and university as long-term plans. It is important to use favourable land, water, technique and seed for the success of agriculture while modern cultivation techniques are disseminated to farmers. It is necessary to apply healthy livestock breeding techniques to increase production.

Life expectancy of our country is 66 years while that of the people in Ayeyarwady Region is 67 years for rural areas and 67.5 for urban areas. It is necessary to take measures to encourage people to lead healthy lives as weaknesses in health will not lead to prosperity.

Administrative bodies are required to exert efforts and join hands with the government in accordance with rules for the development and restoring normalcy.

After the meeting, the Senior General and party cordially greeted members of Ayeyarwady Region Administration Council and departmental personnel.

Afterwards, the Senior General and party, accompanied by officials, inspected the Patheingyi Industrial City Project and heard reports presented by the chairman of the project and officials.

After hearing the reports, the Senior General pointed out the needs to manufacture products from crops harvested in the region, to penetrate export markets for garment factories and to priority for factories that manufacture semi-products and said permissions will granted to resume construction of factories in accordance with COVID-19 rules and regulations.

Then, the Senior General and party inspected round activities in the project site.—MNA

After winning the election in 2015, the NLD, which took office, not only failed to fulfil its campaign promises but also amended or repealed laws related to the rule of law of the state while carrying out activities that undermined the culture, patriotism and national characteristics of the state. As a result, the public lost trust on the elected government and there emerged No Vote campaigns. It was found that only 14 percent of eligible voters or only 14 people out of 100 eligible voters cast their ballots during the Yangon City Development Committee election in 2019.

When election results were announced, suspicious outcomes were found. Therefore, the Tatmadaw had to launch a probes into voter’s lists, which were later found to be susceptible to vote rigging and announced to the public including 1.2 million ballot papers

The Tatmadaw is taking part in the leading role of national politics in accord with the 2008 Constitution: Senior General

THE Tatmadaw is taking part in the leading role of national politics in accord with the 2008 Constitution, and it is a part of the State and the Tatmadawmen are also a part of the people. The Tatmadaw is an organization that defends the country. From the time independence was restored till today, the Tatmadaw has had striven to regain the independence and has been restoring the stability and tranquility. So, the history of the State and that of the Tatmadaw are inseparable. The leading role of national politics under the constitution is the political heritage given by the State. In the first term of the Hluttaw, Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services was appointed under the official gazette of the State by the president with the approval of National Defence and Security Council, said Chairman of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing in meeting with officers, other ranks and families of Patheingyi Station yesterday morning.

In the 2020 election, ethnic parties lost to the NLD in their own regions. Voting fraud proved that some candidates did not get a single vote in their own regions. In democracy, voting fraud is unacceptable. The democratic ambitions of the people were thwarted. It was an act against the country with political greed, power hunger and unscrupulous ways.

Also present at the meeting together with the Senior General were council members General Maung Maung Kyaw and Lt-Gen Moe Myint Tun, Joint Secretary Lt-Gen Ye Win Oo, Commander-in-Chief (Navy) Admiral Moe Aung, senior military officers from the Office of the Commander-in-Chief (Army, Navy and Air), commander of South-West Maj-Gen Aung Aung and officers, other ranks and families of Patheingyi Station.

Delivering his speech, the Senior General said there were voting frauds in the multi-party democracy general election held in November 2020. In democratic system, president is elected and legislative bodies and government are formed through election. Under the pattern of Myanmar's election, Pyithu Hluttaw is formed with regionally elected Hluttaw representatives and Tatmadaw representatives. Amyotha Hluttaw emerges with region and state elected Hluttaw representatives and Tatmadaw representatives. These two Hluttaws become Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. Those elected Hluttaw representatives have to choose president. Some countries directly elect their president. In some countries, leaders of the ruling party serve as prime ministers or heads of government and appoint presidents. Different countries have different patterns. They are exercising democracy suitable to their own legislations. Myanmar itself is also marching towards democracy most suitable to the country.

The Senior General said he didn't cast an advance vote and instead, he went to the polls to cast his vote together with Tatmadaw members. The people were discouraged by the weaknesses of the NLD in serving State duties after winning the 2015 election. When the election of the Yangon City Development Committee took place in 2019, only about 14 per cent of eligible voters went to the polls. In the 2020 election year also, 'no vote' campaigns were encouraged.

In the 2020 election, ethnic parties lost to the NLD in their own regions. Voting fraud proved that some candidates did not get a single vote in their own regions. In democracy, voting fraud is unacceptable. The democratic ambitions of the people were thwarted. It was an act against the country with political greed, power hunger and unscrupulous ways.

It is required to understand that the Tatmadaw is controlling State power, not seizing it. So, the State Administration Council, government with Unhas prescribed executive and legislative affairs. At a time when violent protests and riots occur, the Tatmadaw is handling the situation in accord with the law.

The SAC is implementing the five future work programmes and the nine objectives in order to put the country back on the right track to democracy. Efforts are being made to hold the election again within the set period.

All Tatmadaw members are born of the people so they must have good social dealings with the people. For good dealings, organizational tasks outside the military have been extensively carried out since yore. And they will continue. The Tatmadaw is fulfilling the needs of the people. It is proion ministers and region/state administration councils were formed with civilians, not Tatmadaw members. The Tatmadaw is just helping with civilian rule. It is acting in accord with the Constitution which has not become null and void. This is the measures being taken in line with democratic norms without harming any democratic practices. The constitution protecting the people with flexibility. Over the past two months since the SAC took over State duties, restoration of stability in many places has shown that the Tatmadaw is stand firm by the people.

Protests turned into violence, killings and lootings. Measures to handle the protests are being taken in accord with the democratic rules and law. There were casualties of some members of Myanmar Police Force due to protesters' attacks. As the Tatmadaw shoulders national defence duty, police are also carrying out their duties for the rule of law. For their steadfastness for the rule of law, they were presented with honorary titles of the Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services on the 76th Anniversary of Armed Forces Day.

The Tatmadaw is mainly responsible for national defence and Tatmadaw members must live up to the characteristics of a soldier. Political duties must be in accord with democratic practices. With its fine traditions, the Tatmadaw must try to improve more. It is necessary to maintain the strength and quality of each Tatmadaw member, each military unit and each military headquarters. Thanks to its solidarity, the Tatmadaw is able to safeguard the country. Having responsibility with political cause and political affairs, Tatmadaw members need to serve their duties conscientiously, the Senior General said.

After the meeting, the Senior General presented food-stuffs to an official.

Next, the Senior General and party cordially greeted the officers, other ranks and families of respective stations.

Union Minister for Education Dr Nyunt Pe, who accompanied the Senior General, visited No (2) Basic Education High School in Patheingyi. He met with teachers at Patheingyi University and Education College meeting halls. He explained plans for school reopening and conducting of training courses for teachers and left necessary instructions.

Likewise, Union Minister for Health and Sports Dr Thet Khaing Win visited People's Hospital in Patheingyi and encourage the local patients. He then met hospital staff who reported healthcare services. The union minister explained measures for prevention of Covid-19 and attended to the needs.

He then viewed and encouraged the local people receiving Covid-19 vaccine jabs at Patheingyi Township Public Health Department. —MNA

Exports of cattle, animal products down by $37.5 mln as of 26 March

MYANMAR'S exports of animal products between 1 October and 26 March in the current financial year 2020-2021 touched a low of US$16 million, a sharp drop of $37.5 million compared with the corresponding period of the 2019-2020FY since livestock trading was suspended by China.

In the previous FY, exports of animal products have registered at $53.57 million. Exports of animal products are solely driven by the private sector.

At the present time, about 10,000 heads of cattle, owned by 150 companies, are stranded in the Muse border as China stopped purchasing cattle. The labour wages and feedstuff cost burden them. It costs K400,000-600,000 to take care of 100 heads of cattle every day. Furthermore, Chinese traders have to pay trade debts of around K6,000 million for cattle exports. The trade debt case has been reported to the Ministry of Commerce. We do not receive any response yet, said traders from Mandalay.

Some traders brought the cattle from Muse back to their home owing to the burden of high feedstuff cost and labour wages. Some intentionally stated that they would return to the original designated place but conduct illegal trade in border areas.

For legitimate trade, China permits live cattle import only after ensuring the cattle is free from 20 diseases, including Foot and Mouth Disease, along with vaccination certificates, health certificates, and farming registration certificates. Therefore, the officials concerned from two countries are negotiating the issue. Earlier, 1,500-2,000 heads of cattle were daily traded through the Muse border. Chinese New Year holidays, precautionary measures for the COVID-19, and other reasons are contributing factors to the suspension of the cattle trade. Additionally, Myanmar's live cattle export is heavily relying on China market due to a good price, although Myanmar has other external markets such as Laos, Thailand, Malaysia and Bangladesh, he added.

The Ministry of Commerce grants a permit to each company for 100 cattle export, and the permit is valid for three months. The companies can be taken legal actions if they do not sell the cattle during a three-month period.

Next, the officials from the Livestock Breeding and Veterinary Department (LBVD) under the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Irrigation signed with China's counterparts regarding cattle surveillance and health projects for live cattle export on 18 January 2021, intending to enhance livestock trading and ensure regular border trade through legitimate channel.

The LBVD has been implementing the establishment of a foot-and-mouth-disease free zone, control zone and vaccination areas since 14 July 2020 to export live cattle to China through the land border. Live cattle export was allowed in late 2017, with a view to eradicating illegal exports, creating more opportunities for breeders and promoting their interests.

The country exports cattle above five years old, including vaccination certificates, health certificates, and farming registration certificates. According to the 2018 cattle census, there are 11.5 million heads of cattle in the country. The authorities have issued cattle export licences to more than 300 companies in the Magway region. There are around 5,000 companies holding cattle export licences across the country.

Myanmar can yearly export around 500,000 heads of cattle beyond domestic consumption, the association stated. — HH/GNLM

Thingyan, chance for Myanmar people to wash souls

THOSE who are residing in Myanmar are the luckiest among others. They have chances to enjoy plentiful festivals and occasions in all seasons.

Among them, those people can enjoy the Maha Thingyan festival before Myanmar New Year Day, which falls in mid-April.

People splash water at each other by enjoying water throwing activities during the Maha Thingyan festival period. In fact, Thingyan is the first and the most joyous seasonal event out of 12 monthly festivals in Myanmar tradition.

During the period from the end of February to the last week of May every year, people residing in various parts of Myanmar unavoidably embrace the hotness of summer, in which the temperature is gradually higher and higher. So, most people try to take shelter to mitigate the hotness of summer yearly.

Fortunately, the period of the Maha Thingyan festival falls on the month of Tagu, similar to April. Myanmar people have a chance to break the very hotness duration of summer by throwing water at each other. The water splashing festival falls on mid-hotness days in April. Thanks to the water throwing festival, the hotness of summer immediately declines. In consequence, water from the ground is transformed into vapour for clouds in the sky to be able to prepare raindrops. As such, people can stay away from the hotness of summer thanks to showers. Thingyan is not just a festival. It is an excellent chance for the people to wish their souls during the Maha Thingyan festival. They think water can wash all evil deeds. It is one of the traditional thoughts of Myanmar.

At the end of the water throwing festival, Myanmar's New Year Day waits for the moves of Myanmar people. So, people enjoy the water splashing festivity to water their souls before entering the New Year. They have the inspiration to enter the New Year with new souls. They wish to leave evil deeds in the old year. They wish to taste both physical and mental well-being as well as new environs of the season in the New Year.

This being so, Myanmar people need to abide by universal disciplines to uphold a good attitude for all.

Virus lockdowns around the world as vaccine efforts stumble

FRESH lockdowns and curfews were imposed on tens of millions of people from India to Argentina on Saturday, as Covid-19 infections surged again and vaccine roll-outs were hampered by shortages and scares over side effects.

In India, the worst-hit state of Maharashtra was running out of vaccines as the health system buckled under the weight of the contagion, which has killed 2.9 million people worldwide.

Having let its guard down with mass religious festivals, political rallies and spectators at cricket matches, the world's second-most populous nation has added more than a million new infections since late March.

Every weekend from Saturday until the end of April, Maharashtra's 125 million people will be confined to their homes unless travelling or shopping for food or medicine.

“I'm not for the lockdown at all but I don't think the government has any other choice,” media professional Neha Tyagi, 27, told AFP in Maharashtra's megacity Mumbai. “This lockdown could have been totally avoided if people would take the virus seriously.”

riously.”

The crisis is being exacerbated by a shortage of vaccines. India has so far inoculated 94 million of its 1.3 billion people, but The Times of India reported Friday that states on average had just over five days of stock left, citing health ministry data, with some regions already grappling with severe shortages.

Stay-at-home orders were also set to come into force for the eight million inhabitants of Bogota, as the Colombian capital battled a third wave of infections, adding to curfews already covering seven million across four other major cities.

Elsewhere in South America, Argentina entered a night-time curfew Friday running from midnight to 06:00 am every day until April 30.

It will be in force in the country's highest-risk areas, mainly urban centres, where bars and restaurants will close at 11:00 pm. Both Argentina and Colombia have recorded about 2.5 million coronavirus cases, numbers surpassed only by Brazil in the region.

All of France is subject to restrictions of some form, while the German government's attempts to curb movement and commerce have been stymied by several states refusing to go along with the proposals. Now Berlin is changing the rules to centralise power, adjustments likely to usher in night-time curfews and some school closures in especially hard-hit areas. But some countries were in the process of opening up. Italy was set to end lockdowns from next week for Lombardy, the epicentre of its coronavirus pandemic, and several other regions with improving contagion statistics.

Neighbouring Slovenia announced it would ease coronavirus restrictions and suspend a six-month-long curfew starting Monday.

Shaky roll-outs

As in India, Europe's stuttering vaccine roll-out faced multiple hurdles Friday as EU regulators said they were reviewing side effects of the Johnson & Johnson shot and France further limited its use of the AstraZeneca jab.

France has repeatedly changed the rules on AstraZeneca's vaccine, first over doubts about its efficacy, then over fears that it could be linked to blood clots. On Friday, it did so again, with Health Minister Olivier Veran saying under-55s who had been given a first shot with AstraZeneca would be given a different vaccine for their second dose.

But shortly after he spoke, the World Health Organization said there was “no adequate data” to support switching Covid-19 vaccines between doses. As for the J&J shot, the European Medicines Agency said four “serious cases” of unusual blood clots had been reported – one of them fatal -- with the vaccine, which uses similar technology to the AstraZeneca one.

The US Food and Drug Administration said it had found no causal link between the jab and clots, but noted “a few individuals” in the country had clots and low levels of platelets in the blood after receiving the vaccine, and its investigation was continuing. Both jabs are approved for use in the European Union but the J&J vaccine has not yet been rolled out, and various EU countries have stopped or limited the use of AstraZeneca. An AstraZeneca spokesman said half of its vaccine shipments to the EU would be delayed this week. In the United States, deliveries of the J&J vaccine were set to drop off sharply next week, US health authorities warned Friday.

And in badly hit Brazil, the Senate said it would open an inquiry into the government's handling of the pandemic, as President Jair Bolsonaro continued to resist lockdown measures even with Covid-19 deaths at new records.

Yet Rio de Janeiro on Friday was reversing restrictions in place for two weeks, reopening restaurants and bars, though the city's famed beaches remained closed.

Union Election Commission

Request to Public

- Democracy practices have granted the public freedom of speech, practices and living. Such freedoms should not harm others. Diverse views of others should be understood, but should not be disturbed or harassed. However, with the reason for human rights, some persons are now under pressured, harassed and threatened in breaching the laws. Undisciplined acts could lead to tarnish the image of democracy.
- For preventing destructive actions against stability of the state, safety of the public and the rule of law, it is also required to proper actions in line with the law.
- All the people who favour justice, freedom, equality and safety are requested to oppose breaching the laws and prevent such actions for the benefit of the country and people.

The Current Political Situation in Myanmar

1. Efforts to find solutions to any issue should include an analysis of the issue from all perspectives. A fair and balanced analysis of the current political situation in Myanmar requires information from all perspectives and all sources. With regard to the Myanmar public and the existing political difficulties, analysis and solutions based on hard facts are required, rather than emotions.
2. In the early 2010s, at a time when many other parts of the world were making the transition to democracy with much difficulty and bloodshed, Myanmar made a calm and peaceful transition to a democratic system, one of the very few countries to do so. Myanmar's efforts were acknowledged by the international community at the time. It is an incontrovertible fact that the Myanmar Defence Services (Tatmadaw) led Myanmar's peaceful transition to democracy and nurture of the seeds of democracy in Myanmar. Nurturing the seeds of democracy was a challenging task, as a study of Myanmar's history will show. Thus, the Tatmadaw remains committed to preventing any action that would subvert Myanmar's hard-won democracy.
3. Yet, so-called experts on Myanmar and western media have portrayed recent events as the Tatmadaw's attempts to take power and perpetuate military rule. That this is untrue is clearly shown by the actions of the Myanmar State Administration Council.
4. Past events show that from 2010 to 2020, the Tatmadaw never took sides in elections conducted by any government, whether it was the government led by the Union Solidarity and Development Party (USDP) or by the National League for Democracy (NLD), and that the Tatmadaw facilitated the holding of free and fair elections. The Tatmadaw did not intervene in the 2015 elections where the NLD won in a landslide victory. The Tatmadaw continued operating under the rule of the civilian government.
5. However, the 2020 elections were markedly different from the 2015 elections. The current situation originated from electoral fraud on a massive scale that went beyond mere irregularities. With a view to having fully transparent and fair elections, the Tatmadaw repeatedly issued official announcements highlighting the clear evidence found of inflated voter lists, which could potentially be electoral fraud. From the list of 39.2 million eligible voters issued by the Union Electoral Commission (UEC), there is now clear evidence of fraud involving 10.4 million so-called votes. Assessments in the field also show proof of voter fraud, wrong voter lists, and clear violations of the election law, including admissions of guilt from those who had committed the voter fraud. The number of eligible voters issued by the Department of Immigration and Population amounted to only 32 million, while the list of eligible voters issued by the UEC amounted to 39.2 million, showing a significant difference.

6. The 10.4 million fraudulent votes account for one-fourth of the eligible voters issued by the UEC. Investigations found evidence of deliberate, massive fraud, such as irregularities involving both surplus and missing ballots, duplicate printed ballots, ballots that had not been registered on any official list, and incomplete records of voter identities, even though ballots had been issued to those so-called voters.
7. Since genuinely fair elections are the lifeblood of democratic systems, electoral fraud on such a massive scale would not be accepted by any democratic country in the world. Therefore, both the Tatmadaw and several political parties repeatedly called attention to the mistakes in the voter lists and other factors that indicated electoral fraud, and officially requested the UEC to rectify and resolve the problems. However, the UEC had not done so. Subsequently, in line with democratic principles, the Tatmadaw

Under the term "Social Punishment", innocent civil servants and citizens were publicly threatened or shamed with a variety of methods, and in addition, physically tortured and murdered, just because they did not join the CDM or had different beliefs. Such acts of torture and murder are unacceptable in any context, whether the Myanmar cultural context or the context of any religion.

and political parties had made concerted attempts to arrive at a negotiated solution, by requesting the government and the Hluttaw to call a Special Session of the Hluttaw and then a meeting of the National Defense and Security Council. However, the government had ignored or rejected all these attempts to resolve the situation and had tried to call a session of the new Hluttaw to form a new government, based on the fraudulent results of the 2020 elections. These unilateral actions brought about an emergency situation for the country, as defined in the 2008 Constitution, which therefore resulted in the temporary transfer of state power to the Tatmadaw.

8. The transfer of state power to the military is meant only to organize free and fair elections and restore the political process. It was with this purpose that the members of the State Administration Council were appointed: the members include representatives of the Tatmadaw, the various ethnic groups, and political parties. At state/region, district and township levels, respected community leaders have been appointed in leadership positions, which shows the attention being paid to civilian rule.

9. While the Tatmadaw has had to take charge due to the current emergency situation, the Tatmadaw has not changed the way the government works. The Tatmadaw established the State Administration Council, which is running the government, and has clearly announced that general elections would be held within one to two years. However, some destructive agents provocateurs are using various means to instigate violence, which have now turned previously peaceful demonstrations into all-out efforts to restore state power to the NLD, which had acted like a one-party dictatorship. As a result of these instigations, the violence escalated up to the point of anarchy and mob rule, where the mobs then openly commit violent acts aimed at destroying the state machinery.
10. In response to these lawless acts of violence and to prevent injury, death and damage, the security forces have adhered to international norms for crowd and riot control by exercising utmost restraint and using the least force and

12. The current unrest and demonstrations in Myanmar may be described in five stages. After the Tatmadaw took over state power, demonstrations began from 4 February onwards. In the first stage, within the first two weeks of February, such demonstrations took the form of peaceful protests focusing on support for democracy and opposition to military dictatorship. At that time, people from all classes who opposed the transfer of state power to the Tatmadaw as well as NLD supporters took part in these peaceful protests. This was the first stage.
13. In the second to third week of February, the protests changed, and became focused on destroying the governance machinery of the State Administration Council, restoring state power to the NLD, driving the CDM, and creating violence and rioting. This was the second stage. Participants in this stage included NLD supporters, young people being used by politicians, and civil servants who did not want the State Administration Council to govern. These groups then joined up with illegal organizations such as the Committee Representing Pyithu Hluttaw (CRPH).
14. Starting from the last week of February, the CRPH orchestrated the riots, together with NLD party members and destructive elements who did not want a strong national government. All these agents worked behind the scenes to urge young people, placed them at the front of the crowds, and deliberately turned the demonstrators into an anarchic mob. This was the third stage. This stage was characterized by the mobs seeking direct confrontation with security forces, armed attacks on police stations and social punishment and other attacks on those who did not join the CDM and those who were not NLD supporters.
15. In the first days of March, members of the CRPH, some NLD Party members and NLD supporters from behind the scenes organized anarchic mobs to an elevated level of new violence, forcing the close-down and barricades of public roads, vandalizing and destroying public offices, conducting violent group attacks on those who did not support NLD, and implementing armed attacks on security forces. At this point, the anarchic mobs were organized into violent action, the fourth stage of events.
16. Starting from the second week of March, NLD supporters and violence instigators changed from attacking government machinery to a deliberate strategy of armed insurrection. Using whatever weapons they could obtain, they staged armed attacks on members of the security forces, armed raids on police stations, and arson attacks on factories and industrial buildings. This is the fifth stage. Urged on by the CRPH, active supporters of the NLD hired thugs and drug users as mercenaries to carry out acts that aimed at destruction of the state. Some lawbreakers and young people contacted armed organizations and fled to the border regions of the country. This resembles the events of the 1988 unrest, which created the All-Burma Students' Democratic Front (ABSDF). Thus, the current events are being driven towards the creation of a new armed organization, which will affect national security. Proof that the CRPH and NLD hard-core supporters are the main instigators of this dangerous trend can be found in the social media posts of CRPH and NLD supporters themselves.

17. As the stages progressed—from peaceful protests in the first stage to armed insurrection in the fifth stage—most of the public who wish to live peacefully stopped participating from the beginning of the third stage. From the third stage of anarchic riots to fifth stage insurrection, NLD politicians, not wishing to face the various legal charges against them, have opted for a deliberate strategy of destruction of nation-wide governance mechanisms, instigating citizens who are easily swayed to new acts of violence in liaison with underground organizations. Therefore, from 14 March 2021, martial law was enacted and implemented in the six townships of Yangon region that were in the fifth stage of armed insurrection.
18. As a result of martial law implementation, the level of violence decreased markedly in these six townships as well as in other towns and cities, where a measure of stability and security returned. In these areas, citizens joined willingly with the security forces in removing road barriers and cleaning up roads, with the desire to return to normalcy, improve security for their families and resolve transport and communication difficulties, especially since these barriers were affecting their access to work and social and health services. Consequently, with road clearance, local markets were able to operate again, and trading activities resumed, and security and stability have improved.
19. The data show that the unrest in Myanmar that began on 4 February 2021 had involved 5,140,585 people (9.52% of the country's population) at its height on 22 February. On 14 March 2021, when martial law was implemented, an estimated 15,600 people (0.029% of the country's population) had taken part in demonstrations. On 21 March 2021, 3,250 people (0.006% of total population) took part in demonstrations. The overall patterns show one of decreasing violence. While violent demonstrations are still staged in some cities, most citizens, who wish for stability and security have not participated. Instead, those who are participating in such violence are being led by the CRPH and a group of hard-core NLD supporters who wish to destroy national peace and stability through violent means.
20. Unethical media outlets and agencies have suppressed the truth and prevented much of the public from learning

Unethical media and social media have deliberately suppressed news reports of such events, as well as the news of civil servants whose lives have been devastated by various aspects of the CDM. Such actions have obscured and distorted the truth about the current situation in Myanmar, the strategy being to push the country into a political trap.

- what happened. International media, including mainstream media, have deliberately released only heavily biased and one-sided reports, with attacks against the government based on unverified reports. Social media platforms have allowed the posting of false news, often based on wishful thinking, thus obscuring the desire of citizens who wish for peace, stability, and a return to normalcy.
21. Doctors who have violated the medical code of ethics by implementing CDM without regard to their patients and by exhorting other doctors to do the same, are responsible for the severe health care crisis now affecting the poor and the sick. Consequently, doctors and nurses from the medical corps of the Tatmadaw have stepped in to serve these patients and have opened the Tatmadaw health care facilities to the public and are providing free-of-cost healthcare services. Unethical media and social media have deliberately suppressed news reports of such events, as well as the news of civil servants whose lives have been devastated by various aspects of the CDM. Such actions have obscured and distorted the truth about the current situation in Myanmar, the strategy being to push the country into a political trap.
22. Another analysis that needs to be made concerns civil-military relations. As known by international analysts and those skilled in Myanmar affairs, civil-military relations plunged to the lowest point during the time of the NLD-led government. The common meeting ground and bridge for civil-military relations is the National Defence and Security Council, which was not allowed to convene a single meeting during the time of the NLD government. Another proof of this is that when the COVID-19 pandemic was affecting Myanmar, the Tatmadaw offered to collaborate in combatting the pandemic but this offer was rejected by the NLD government. Such examples show that the NLD government never practiced the basic democratic principles of negotiation and collaboration in important national tasks.
23. Additionally, the NLD government was highly divisive, by encouraging practices that went against Myanmar culture and tradition, including on social media. It attempted to destroy the people's belief in their ethnic group, language, and religion through various means. This sowed discord and created divisions in Myanmar society.

24. Using democracy standards as a pretext, the NLD also attacked the Tatmadaw which has always defended first and foremost the national interest. It made the baseless claim that the Tatmadaw was not under civilian rule and tried to distort the public's perception of the Tatmadaw by constantly attacking the Tatmadaw while the Tatmadaw was exercising its constitutional mandate of serving the national interest. In addition to not convening the National Defence and Security Council even once, the NLD government rejected the proposals of Tatmadaw members serving the Hluttaw, which had been made in the interests of national development, peace, and security. This resulted in the loss of opportunities for joint collaboration between the Tatmadaw and NLD government, and for using the Tatmadaw's considerable strengths and capabilities in national security and development. Using its majority in the Hluttaw, the NLD passed laws affecting and undermining national security. Additionally, NLD party members worked to remove the Tatmadaw's role in Myanmar political scene and tried to poison public opinion against the Tatmadaw representatives in the Hluttaw, and against the Tatmadaw's efforts to protect Myanmar's national interest. Thus, throughout the period of NLD-led government, civil-military relations sank to rock bottom. Today, it is indeed sad to see the hatred that some of the Myanmar public hold against the Tatmadaw.
25. The State Administration Council is implementing a five-point agenda that includes peaceful coexistence and a foreign policy of neutrality as before. It wishes to have friendly relations with all countries. The strategic position of Myanmar in the Indo-Pacific region and the dynamics among the world's superpowers make it imperative for Myanmar to implement a policy of strict neutrality more than ever. Small countries such as Myanmar are subject to pressure on all sides from superpowers. It is not possible for such a country to stand on its own, and Myanmar wishes to have collaboration with friendly nations. History shows that the sanctions against Myanmar implemented over many years did not accomplish their objective, and instead, led only to undesirable consequences and repercussions. In any human society, mutual respect and understanding are crucial in ensuring good communica- tion and building harmonious relations. In Myanmar politics, beginning with the struggle for the country's independence, the Tatmadaw has traditionally been the most stable and strongest institution, and thus, it is an institution which cannot be ignored or excluded in efforts to build the country, achieve national reconciliation and transition to a more fully-fledged democracy.

26. The Tatmadaw, as the organization that first implemented the multiparty democratic system in Myanmar, only desires to see a government based on transparent and genuinely fair elections, which are essential for any multiparty democracy. Dishonest and undisciplined political manoeuvres will only destroy the underpinnings of democracy. It was for this reason that the Tatmadaw reviewed and assessed the 2020 election results, where it found massive fraud to have been committed. The move by the Tatmadaw to take over state power temporarily was not a pre-planned one. Neither was it an act of taking down a government and seizing power from that government. Instead, the Tatmadaw was obliged to declare an emergency situation in accordance with the Constitution, and unavoidably, state power was transferred to the Tatmadaw.
27. Now that the Tatmadaw has taken temporary responsibility for the country, it has established the State Administration Council with a five-point agenda for action and nine objectives. At the same time, the Tatmadaw is guiding Myanmar on the path to democracy. The Tatmadaw believes that all these actions will support the transformation of Myanmar into a democracy that is based on a federal system.
28. The State Administration Council vows to establish only a political system desired by the Myanmar public. It does not wish to establish a military government, which is not what the majority of the Myanmar people want. Consistent with this undertaking, more than half the Council members are civilians, while senior Tatmadaw officials are supporting and implementing civilian rule and administration. The Tatmadaw is striving to realize the goal of fair elections at the end of the emergency period, so that Myanmar people are able to elect a government that truly reflects their choice. At the present, the Tatmadaw is working patiently to achieve a situation of stability, peace, and rule of law, dealing with violence by using the lowest possible level of force. At the same time, the Tatmadaw is striving to achieve development progress on many fronts. In this endeavour, the Tatmadaw will always ensure that the three objectives of the Union are defended, protected, and adhered to: namely, the non-disintegration of the Union, the non-disintegration of national solidarity, and the perpetuation of sovereignty. The Tatmadaw is also taking measures to progress towards a Union of Myanmar based on a federal democratic system.

NOWADAYS, the government is striving for regional development tasks in various parts of regions and states. Local and foreign investments are invited to operate the businesses in mutual interests, and disciplines and restrictions are being eased as much as possible for putting investment in Myanmar as well. The country needs to have investments in various sectors at a time when multiple development tasks are being undertaken across the nation. Currently, efforts are being made to implement an international fish auction market and an industrial zone project near urban area of Myeik Township in Taninthayi Region.

cause there needs to have a fish auction market meeting international standards and industries to produce finished products at home, especially nearby Myeik, to be able to penetrate fish products of Myeik area into the international market. The forthcoming project will fulfill the requirement of the country, benefiting local people.

Up to now, local young people from Myeik area are working in Thailand. Upon completion, the project will create plentiful of employment to local youths. Consequently, Myanmar youths will have to work with deserved rights for earning income without need to depart from their native lands.

As raw fish produced from will have chance to closely observe techniques of producing finished goods with the use of raw fish under the supervision of experts. Myanmar employees will also have to grasp the opportunities of observation over practical and theoretical production of finished goods meeting set standards in time, production, storage, transport and distribution in the fish market of international community. In the future, the project will help enhance capacity of skilled labourers in relevant workplaces.

Actually, an international fish auction market had been in Myeik. Such market was located on 103.57 acres of land in Inlay Myaing Industrial Zone of Myeik in year 2000. The fish market project was launched Arrangements are being made to implement the project near Kyweku Village of Kyweku Village-tract in Myeik Township. More than 2,000 acres of land has been earmarked to be allotted for the project. It was learnt that the proposal for implementation of the project was submitted to Taninthayi Region government. As Myeik Public Corporation Limited will invest some US$300 million in the project, the proposal has been submitted to the Union level authorities.

"If we receive approvals from the region government and the Union government, we will launch implementation of the project. If we have got the permit for the project, it will create a large number of jobs for local people. Plans are underway to manufacture finished products with the use of raw fish," said U Hla Than, Chairman of Myeik Public Corporation Ltd.

Officials of Myeik Public Corporation Ltd expected the Union government would approve the project. It is be-

Myeik area will be manufactured as finished goods to be exported, those local youths with order of permit 348/2000 of the Myanmar Investment Commission on 29 September

2000. The Department of Fisheries possessed 30 per cent of share, Myanmar Setraco Company, 60 per cent and the name of entrepreneur, 10 per cent.

The fish auction market was operated as of 1 October 2001 with US$20 million loan from foreign country but the project was suspended on 28 February 2003 because of least experiences and expertise, and bad trading. Although foreign investors wished to put their monetary investments in the project, work process delayed due to some problems of remitting investment money.

The forthcoming international fish auction market and industrial zone project is not similar to the past one. Myeik Public Corporation Ltd will put monetary investment in the project. Although the past fish auction market took a position in Inlay Myaing Industrial Zone of Myeik, the forthcoming international fish auction market will be built in the area near Kyweku Village of Myeik Township.

If the international fish auction market and industrial zone project have been implemented, it would have developed businesses related to the project and social lives of the people. Moreover, it is expected to export finished fish products to international market via the market of neighbouring country based on Mawtawng road. So also, finished goods can be sent to Yangon which is domestic market and economic hub.

Actually, marine products produced from Taninthayi Region rely on the market in Thailand. As the largest volume of fish resources captured from the water along Myeik coast flows into the fish market in Thailand, businesspersons cannot gain deserved profits. As such, efforts are being made to implement the international fish auction market and industrial zone project in Myeik area so as to control the Thai fish market.

That is why the project which can increase earning of foreign exchange for the State and create a large number of job opportunities for the local people will be important for development of Myeik area as well as for penetrating deep into the international fish market.

Eight of 12 Euro 2020 host cities confirm matches with spectators

EIGHT of the 12 host cities for this year's European Championship have said they are willing to have spectators at matches based on projections of an improving Covid-19 situation, UEFA said on Friday.

The remaining four -- Munich, Rome, Bilbao and Dublin -- have been given until April 19 to release their plans "and final decisions will be made on that date regarding the staging of matches in those four venues", European football's governing body said in a statement. That raises the possibility that the cities in question could lose hosting rights, with the matches moved to other existing host venues.

The number of spectators allowed in stadiums looks set to vary considerably across the eight venues, with Saint Petersburg and Baku confirming they will allow crowds at 50 percent of capacity and Budapest aiming to allow 100 per cent capacity "but with strict stadium entry requirements for spectators." —AFP ■

City boss Guardiola says overwhelmed by Bielsa's 'magical man' tribute

PEP Guardiola said he was "overwhelmed" to be described by Marcelo Bielsa as "magical" ahead of Manchester City's clash with Leeds today.

Veteran Leeds boss Bielsa this week said the Catalan was a "magical man" because of the way his teams played.

Guardiola, who views the Argentine as a role model, said at his pre-match press conference yesterday: "I'm overwhelmed, I feel weird."

"He's the most honest person. I'm pretty sure what he says is what he believes. He doesn't say or do anything for the media for the reputation of himself."

"That's why I'm overwhelmed. Everyone knows the admiration and respect (I have for him), the way he helped me in my beginnings."

"Always he'll be there in my heart and that's why I am always, 'wow'."

"Always I feel I don't deserve it because if there's one person who can search or find the secrets, the way we want to do it, the way we want to play, it's him, through his work ethic and especially his knowledge about the game".

Quadruple-chasing City head into the Premier League game at the Etihad Stadium 14 points clear at the top of the table.

They need 11 more points from their remaining seven fixtures to wrap up their third title in four years.

The sides drew 1-1 when they met at Elland Road in October.

Guardiola said: "I am looking forward to the game. We faced them in the first game and we know how difficult it was and this will not be an exception. —AFP ■

British sports chiefs back use of 'vaccine passports' to fill stadiums

BRITISH sports chiefs say they would accept the introduction of coronavirus "vaccine passports" as a means of allowing full capacities at stadiums.

In a letter to lawmakers, a number of bodies including the Football Association, Premier League, Rugby Football Union and England and Wales Cricket Board said current social distancing rules would be "insufficient to end sport's Covid financial crisis".

Test events are being launched over the coming weeks as part of the government's roadmap out of lockdown, with an FA Cup semi-final and the FA Cup final among pilot events for a "Covid status certification" scheme.

The system would show whether people had been vaccinated, had antibodies for Covid-19 or had tested negative.

Vaccine and testing passports are opposed by a group of MPs but Prime Minister Boris Johnson and opposition leader Keir Starmer are among several politicians to be told by sporting organizations that they are a "credible option" to achieve full venues.

"All of our sports can see the benefit that a Covid certification process offers in getting more fans safely back to their sport as quickly as possible," the joint letter says. "We know that our stadia can only be fully filled with an assurance process."

"This process must ensure that everyone can access stadia and must include arrangements that would verify a negative Covid test or an antibody test or vaccination certification. —AFP ■
